Scattered tools.
Silent costs.

Most companies are not short on software. They are short on software that talks.

Where the cost hides

Re-typing

The same customer, typed into three systems.

Hand-offs

Approvals living in someone's inbox.

Reports

Three days to close the month.

Licenses

Paid for. Barely used.

Nobody budgets for it. Everybody pays for it.

It never shows up as a line item. It shows up as overtime, errors and late decisions.
